Testing of Fume Cupboards Under BS EN 14175

Where fume cupboards have been installed since the publication of BS EN 14175-4:2004, the procedures in UHSR/15/HS07 Schedule 3.8 will need to be supplemented/amended with the following additional tests.

For Fume Cupboards Supplied, Installed and Commissioned in accordance with BS EN 14175

That is, for a fume cupboard which has been:

- type tested in accordance with EN 14175-3 before installation; and
- commissioning tested after installation according to BS EN 14175-4:2004 Clause 5 and that a full commissioning test report according to BS EN 14175-4:2004 clause 9.1 is available.

Additional/amended tests

Face velocity
Extract volume flow rate
Pressure drop
Air flow visualization

For Fume Cupboards NOT Fully Compliant with BS EN 14175

That is, for a fume cupboard which:

- has NOT been type tested in accordance with EN 14175-3 before installation; and/or
- has NOT been fully commissioning tested after installation according to BS EN 14175-4:2004 Clause 5 and/or a full commissioning test report according to BS EN 14175-4:2004 clause 9.1 is NOT available.

Additional/amended tests

Face velocity
Extract volume flow rate
Pressure drop
Air flow visualization
Containment
Robustness of containment
Air exchange efficiency

Face velocity test

Objectives

The aim of the face velocity test (BS EN 14175-4:2004 clause 6) in the routine testing is to determine any variation from the type test and/or commissioning test results. No position mean should vary by more than 10% from the design value.

Test equipment and test procedure

An anemometer with a measuring range suitable for the fume cupboard under test and capable of measuring air velocities with an accuracy of 10 % shall be used. The fume cupboard shall be operating under actual working conditions.

The probe positions shall be as in EN 14175-3:2003, Clause 5.2.2. For vertical sashes the measurements shall be performed in all points in the horizontal middle row in the inner measurement plane (if the number of rows are even, the one above the centre). For horizontal sashes the measurements shall be performed at all points in the vertical middle row in the inner measurement plane (if the number of rows is even, choose one and report the position).

Measurements shall be made at each probe position for at least 30 s.

Test report

Calculate the average velocity in m/s and round the result to the second decimal place.
